Housing association groups Accord and GreenSquare are exploring a possible partnership.

Talks will take place over coming months to see what such a partnership might achieve.

Accord chief executive Dr Chris Handy said: "Accord's Board is always assessing opportunities that present themselves and early discussions with GreenSquare have shown that our organisations are very well aligned."

Ruth Cooke, GreenSquare's chief executive, said: "A partnership between Accord and GreenSquare could provide an excellent opportunity for both organisations to expand and enhance our services to customers. Although conversations are at an early stage, I am looking forward to exploring what might result from us combining our strengths."
